

How does Java see your system?

Posted At : July 9, 2003 12:12 PM | Posted By : Steven Erat

Related Categories: Java, ColdFusion

Here's a snippet of code that will help you determine how the JVM under CFMX sees your system. By dumping the System Properties this could be useful for debugging locale and timezone issues, file encoding issues, and more.

```
[cfobject type="JAVA" name="foo" class="java.lang.System" action="CREATE">
```

```
[cfdump var="#foo.getProperties()#">
```