

How to run ColdFusion on Windows as an application

Posted At : July 18, 2003 1:08 PM | Posted By : Steven Erat

Related Categories: ColdFusion, Macromedia

Here's how to run ColdFusion 5 (and earlier) on Windows as an application rather than a service. This could be useful for testing user permissions when you want to eventually run CF5 as a specific user account in the Service.

```
C:> cd C:CFusionin
```

```
C:> cfserver.exe -DESKTOP
```

A small window will popup as a gui. To stop ColdFusion you just close the gui.