

Sharing the Wealth with Google's GMail Invitations

Posted At : June 15, 2004 11:44 AM | Posted By : Steven Erat

Related Categories:

I'm one of the few who managed to obtain a Google email (gmail) account early on, although I chose to bid on mine through eBay. It seems that now I am able to spread the joy to up to 7 more people. If you would like to enjoy Google's new email service which includes 1GB (thats gigabytes) of free space, drop me a line and i will send the invite over to you free of charge. It's first come, first serve..

8pm Update: All extra GMail account invitations have been handed out, and I've no more left. Better luck next time :)

Update 6/17: More invitations to hand out... Google just doled out many more, so drop me a line.